

MERGER CONTROL GROUP

WHAT WE DO

Our market-leading Merger Control Group provides:

- “Outsourced” merger control services for clients without a relevant merger control function, running the process in the UK, the EC and elsewhere as required
- “Bolt-on” services, supplementing a client’s existing team with strategic advice, drafting assistance etc.
- Expert advocacy before the agencies and on appeal

WHY US?

We are:

- Technical experts – including economists and ex-City lawyers
- Commercially astute
- Well resourced – if you need a large team or additional lawyers at short notice
- Well connected – our group includes former UK and EC regulators and secondees to regulators
- Specialists in oral and written competition advocacy
- Able to offer an end-to-end service – from pre-notification to possible appeals
- Friendly and easy to deal with
- Generally able to offer a team free from conflicts
- Excellent value for money, reflecting our low overheads

For CVs, please go to the "Barristers" section of our website: www.monckton.com.

Instructing a barrister We can be instructed for merger control advice by any law firm in the world or (through an in-house Solicitor or foreign lawyer) by any company. (If you do not fall within either of these two groups, please contact our Senior Clerks to discuss whether we can assist.)

How barristers operate Monckton Chambers comprises over 50 barristers. Each barrister operates their own independent business (although they commonly work in teams). This means that our conflicts rules are applied to each barrister individually and not to Chambers as a whole. We separate our teams very rigorously using separate rooms, ring-fenced IT systems, private printing facilities and separate clerking.

Pitches We appreciate that a great deal of merger control work is won through competitive pitches. If you would like to involve our group in a pitch or to discuss the line to take, please get in touch.

"Monckton Chambers remains "an automatic choice for competition work." It is a set with barristers well versed on both the advisory and advocacy fronts, who "have seen and done it all over a number of years." As well as having some of the UK's most respected silks, it has a long list of impressive juniors, many of whom are tipped as future stars." – Chambers UK, 2010
